These special categories are as follows: personal information revealing racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, trade union membership, genetic information, biometric information and information about sex life or orientation. Consent will be required for data held or stored under this category as well as one for the following legal basis.

Substantial public interest

The processing is necessary for reasons of substantial public interest for example, understanding sexual orientation of a pupil to ensure systems in place to manage washroom facilities and PE changing.

Vital Interest

To protect the vital interest of any person where that person can't give consent, for example, if they are seriously hurt or unconscious.

We process this information under Education Act 1996, and the General Data Protection Act Article 6, and Article 9 where data processed is special category data of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

- Section 3 of The Education (Information About Individual Pupils) (England) Regulations 2013

How does the government use your data?

The pupil data that we lawfully share with the DfE through data collections:

- Underpins school funding, which is calculated based upon numbers of pupils and their characteristics in each school.

- Informs 'short-term' education policy monitoring and school accountability and intervention.
- Supports 'longer-term' research and monitoring of educational policy, e.g. how certain subject choices go on to affect education or earnings beyond school.

The National Pupil Database (NPD)

Much of the data about pupils in England goes on to be held in the NPD.

The NPD is owned and managed by the DfE and contains information about pupils in schools in England – it provides evidence on educational performance to inform independent research as well as studies commissioned by the DfE.

Information on the NPD is held in an electronic format for statistical purposes and it is securely collected from a range of sources, including schools, LAs and awarding bodies.

You can find out more about the NPD by following this link: <https://www.gov.uk/guidance/how-to-access-department-for-education-dfe-data-extracts>.

- Schools
- LAs
- Researchers
- Organisations connected with promoting the education or wellbeing of children in England
- Other government departments and agencies
- Organisations fighting or identifying crime

Organisations fighting or identifying crime, such as the Home Office and the police, may use their legal powers to contact the DfE to request access to individual level information relating to a crime.

- If it processes your personal data.

Wallsend Children's Community (WCC)

WCC seeks to understand why some children in Wallsend underperform in terms of scholarly attainment relative to other school children nationally. Having relevant data will allow them to identify which specific groups of children have the lowest levels of attainment and associated factors. WCC may require access to non-aggregated, individual pupil level data which has been pseudonymised to protect the anonymity of our pupils.

Data Collected

The following are the types of data which may be used

- Attainment
- Attendance
- Exclusions
- Protected characteristics (gender, disability, ethnicity, language, nationality, etc)
- Behaviour
- Early Help Assessments
- Free School Meal eligibility
- Pupil Premium
- SEN

What will the data be used for

The findings from the processing of data will be used for:

- Informing understanding of the attainment gap

- Produce a set of recommendations for the Wallsend Children's Community Strategic Alliance

Legal Basis

The legal basis is legitimate interest, Article 6(f), in processing this data with specific aims of 1) identifying the key drivers of lower attainments and 2) identifying the groups of students who are most at risk of underperforming relative to peers nationally.

Local Authority

We may be required to share information about our pupils with the local authority to ensure that they can conduct their statutory duties under the School Admission Code, including conducting Fair Access Panels.
